CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS IN U. S. DULLEST IN YEARS

Republicans To Keep Control Of Senate, May Lose House

LODGE HAS CONFIDENCE

Prohibition Continues To Be Big Issue In New Jersey

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 7.—Today's elections of 435 members of the House of Representatives, 37 Senators and 32 Governors concludes one of the dullest campaigns in American political history.

As only one-third of the Senate are elected every two years it is impossible for the Republicans to lose their control of it, but the Democrats are exerting efforts substantially to reduce the majority. Special controversies have arisen in various States. For example in New Jersey, where a bitter struggle is raging on the question of prohibition, the Democrat Governor, Edwards, advocates repeal of the prohibition laws.

Senator Lodge, the prominent opponent of the League of Nations, anticipates an overwhelming return for his sixth term. Senator Reed, the Democratic antagonist of former President Wilson's post-war policies had a hard fight to secure nomination but his campaign developed promisingly. Other prominent Senators whose political fates were in the balance include Senator Hiram W. Johnson and Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock.

Japanese Agree To Chinese Proposal On Tsingtao Holdings

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—The Sino-Japanese Commission this morning discussed the public properties, the Japanese delegates agreeing with the Chinese reply on them except with regard to the Tsingtao Commercial College for which the Chinese delegates undertook to devise another way to solve the question.

The Chinese sub-commission on public properties presented a statement on the principles of valuation and valuation itself of the public properties under the control of the Civil Administration to which the Japanese promised to reply. The Chinese delegates proposed that the Commission should discuss the procedure for transferring the Tsingtao Administration but this question was postponed until tomorrow's meeting.

50 Miners Killed In Pit Explosion

(Reuter's Service)

Spanpler, Penn., Nov. 7.—Over 50 men perished in the disastrous explosion in the Reilly coal mine. Thirty survivors have been taken to hospital, some of them in a desperate condition. Some of those rescued state that bodies were scattered throughout the workings by the force of the explosion. Many victims were overcome by gas when within a short distance of fresh air. A crowd of men, women and children are waiting at the pithead all night long awaiting news of those entombed.

Pacts Submitted To Peking Parliament

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—The Cabinet has submitted to Parliament for consideration the Washington Nine-Power Treaty, The Postal and Tariff Conventions, the Sino-German Treaty, The Sino-Persian Commercial Treaty, the Sino-Chilian Commercial Treaty, the Arbitration Convention and a statement regarding the Sino-Japanese Shantung Conference. These documents have been placed on tomorrow's agenda of the House of Representatives.

RUSS BUREAU ENLARGED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—Owing to the increasing amount of work devolving on the Russian Affairs Bureau the Waichiaopu has appointed Mr. Yao Chow-yi, former Charge d'Affaires at Paris, and Mr. Chang Yu-chuan, technical expert to the Washington Delegation, as extra members of the Bureau.

COMPOSER HERE TO GATHER IDEAS FOR NEW MUSIC

Henry Eichheim On Third Trip To China To Study Melodies

That Chinese music has many subtleties unknown to Western art is the opinion of Mr. Henry Eichheim, noted violinist and composer of Boston, Mass., who with his family is now touring the Orient for the express purpose of studying the music of the East.

This is Mr. Eichheim's third trip to China, his former visits having borne fruit in the series of compositions for orchestra entitled "Oriental Impressions" which made such a notable stir in America during the last season. This group of sketches of the musical life of the East was performed by the Boston Symphony Orchestra in March of this year and by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in April, Mr. Eichheim himself conducting on both occasions. Their success was striking and immediate, showing a definite demand on the part of the musical public of America for just the kind of work which Mr. Eichheim is doing—the interpretation of the sounds one hears in an Oriental city, the temple-bells, the street-vendors' cries, the tea-house tunes, the Buddhist chants, in terms of the modern, impressionistic music of the West. Mr. Eichheim's present visit to China is made for the purpose of collecting further material.

During the past week Mr. Eichheim made a visit of several days in Wusih, where he was much impressed by the musical attainments of a society of Chinese gentlemen entiled the Quinsan Music Guild, under the direction of Mr. Wu Wan-ching. This guild, which meets daily for recreation and study in the Wusih Public Park, has been very active in the recent national revival of the ancient type of music called Quinsan Music, which so far surpasses the type of music now generally heard in Chinese theaters. Mr. Eichheim said that the work of these Wusih musicians is much in advance of any he has met in other Chinese cities.

While in Wusih Mr. Eichheim heard also a group of Taoist priests render several noted Chinese musical compositions, entitled "A Jade Phoenix Feather," "An Incense-purse," etc. Mr. Eichheim was very much interested especially in the rhythms brought out in syncopated time by the various kinds of percussion instruments. "Our jazz-music," said Mr. Eichheim, "which has just begun to train our Western ears in the possibilities of complex rhythmical patterns, will have five hundred years to go before it can attain the perfection reached by these Chinese musicians. We in the West have only touched the fringes of things."

While in Wusih Mr. and Mrs. Eichheim and daughter were the guests of Miss Louise Hammond and Miss Frances Berg. They are staying at the Astor House in Shanghai this week and are sailing for Colombo on November 11 on the Porthos.

Old Bill Again Favorite For Champions Today; Maresfield Second Choice

Lotteries Last Night Also Favor Christmas Gift, Nationalist And The Field—Nationalist Wins Shanghai Stakes---Zenda Causes Upset

Old Bill, twice a Champions winner, is again the favorite for the Champions—the seventh race on the program this afternoon. Campox's wonderful little bay was picked by the betting public as soon as it qualified by winning the Criterion Stakes on Monday, and at the selling lotteries at the Race Club last night it also proved to be the favorite of owners, riders and close followers of the 'sport of kings' by selling the highest of the 13 ponies qualified.

Maresfield—winner of the Spring Champions, when it beat Old Bill in a neck-and-neck finish, and second to The Hawk in the Fall Champions of 1921—is second favorite, and Christmas Gift is favored for third.

Old Bill was a big favorite over Maresfield in the first lottery last night, but Maresfield had a wee edge on the Campox pony in the second lottery. On the total prices paid, however, Old Bill will go into the classic event of the Shanghai racing season after tiffin today favorite by a nice margin. Christmas Gift was the third best liked pony at last night's lotteries and The Field, Nationalist, Castle Sycee and Hallowe'en followed in the order named. The Field includes any pony which may qualify in the first six races today, the most likely being Shonkoland, which ran third in the Spring Champions but has failed to qualify this meeting.

Old Bill, the favorite, has been resting in the stables since his qualifying victory on Monday. The pony was entered in the Shanghai Stakes, which he also won last year, but was scratched yesterday morning when his owner decided to save him for the classic. Old Bill had his exercise yesterday by a fast gallop during the tiffin hour. He was clocked :30 in the last quarter.

The Champions Sweepstakes will be the seventh race today—the fourth race after the tiffin interval. It is for 1¼ miles, the winner to get Tls. 2,500, second Tls. 1,000, and third Tls.. 500. Jockeys must have won at least five flat races or be approved by the Stewards.

YESTERDAY'S RACING

Yesterday's events were overshadowed by the closeness of the Champions, chief interest in the ten races being attached to what effect, if any, the results would have on the big event today. Eight ponies qualified for the classic—Zenda, Shake Down, Nationalist, Beaver, Ajax, Harbin, Sir Spots, and Castle Sycee—which with the ten qualifying on Monday makes 18 ponies eligible for the big race. It is doubtful, however, if more than 12 go to the post this afternoon.

The outstanding event was the victory of Nationalist in the Shanghai Stakes. Hallowe'en, a favorite because of its victorious canter the day before, was beaten a length by the McBain pony, with Salvation in third position. The only other upset was the victory of Eric Moller on Zenda to the tune of a $158.80 dividend in the first race. Jason, a rank outsider in the betting, was second, and Pennyfield third. recorded yesterday—Zenda's victory in the first race, and Sir Spots unexpected win in the eighth event Zenda, with the veteran Eric Moller up, won the first race and paid a dividend of $158.80 after a neck-and-neck finish with Jason, a rank outsider with R. S. Dallas up. Zenda, Jason and Pennyfield got away from the other 22 starters at the Widow's Monument and came into the stretch nose to tail, Moller whipping his mount over the line by a short neck. Pennyfield was third. Because of a mix-up in colors Billy Hill rode Jet, the heavy favorite, past the stands at the finish, but Jet was not in the picture. Silver Streak, second choice favorite, again disappointed many admirers. The Peel pony has been unable to do anything this meet.

M. O. Springfield rode Shakedown to victory in the second event, The China Cup, by a safe margin over Pastures New, the favorite, and Paddington, the second choice of the betting fraternity.

NATIONALIST WINS

William McBain's Nationalist, Champions contender, qualified for the big race when it turned the tables on Hallowe'en, the big upset on Monday, and won the third race, The Shanghai Stakes. Several ponies picked as Champions possibilities were in the 1½ mile event but the McBain pony crossed the tape a length ahead in easy fashion. Hallowe'en, fourth choice in the betting despite its sensational win of Monday, staged a pretty fight with Salvation in the stretch past the grandstand, and beat Dallas' mount by a short head. Arlington, Springfield up, and Thomas a Becket, Crokam up, held the lead until the turn into the stretch when the winners passed them one, two, three.

Day's pony Midland, with Dallas up, won The Pagoda Cup, the fourth race on the program and the first event after tiffin. The Golf Bird, Brand riding, was second and Peterkins, Knoll up, was third. Midland was troublesome at the starting post, the jockey having difficulty in controlling the pony.

He went away in the middle of the bunch and stayed there until

Ponies Qualifying For The Champions

The following 18 ponies have qualified for The Champions by winning the races in which they were entered Monday and yesterday:

Fay and Seth's Christmas Gift, (Mr. Heard).
Campox's Old Bill, (Mr. Johnstone).
Robson's The Tiny Bird, (Mr. Brand).
Sky and Hickling's Hallowe'en, (Mr. Knoll).
Day's Midland, (Mr. A. N. Dallas).
Fay and Seth's Christmas Card, (Mr. Heard).
Winsome and Hasty's The Osprey, (Mr. Hill).
Henry Morris' Maresfield, (Mr. Heard).
Winsome and Hasty's The Magpie, (Mr. Hill).
P. Hinode's Del Monte, (Mr. Sleap).
Mr. Toeg's Zenda, (Mr. Eric Moller).
Powhattan's Shake Down, (Mr. Springfield).
Mr. Wm. McBain's Nationalist (Mr. Brand).
Hellenic's Ajax (Mr. A. N. Dallas).
Mr. Robson's Harbin (Mr. Brand).
Mr. Gilpin's Sir Spots (Mr. Knoll).
N. L. Sparke's and George Wilson's Castle Sycee (Mr. Hill).
C. G. Mackie's and G. H. Wright's Beaver (Mr. Johnstone).
Day's Midland and Winsome and Hasty's The Magpie each qualified twice.

There are six races today in which it will be possible for ponies to qualify before The Champions is run.

Opera Star Adopts Slayer's Family

IRENE Vavloska, noted prima donna of the Chicago Opera Co., adopted the family of Joseph Vacek, Chicago slayer, and then got Vacek pardoned from a twenty-five-year term he was serving. When he was sixteen, Vacek killed his father in defense of his mother. He was sentenced to Joliet (Ill.) Prison, but escaped, took the name of Mahoney, became an electrical engineer, married and is the father of a little baby. Recently an ex-policeman recognised him, and he was sent back to prison. Polish societies called the case to the attention of Vavloska, who became so interested she insisted on supporting the family and then sought so strenuously for Vacek's pardon he is now free.

Beauty Of China's Gardens Sketched For Woman's Club In Highly Interesting Talk

Mrs. Florence Ayscough Gives Brilliant Discourse On Principles And Artistic Arrangement Of Historic Pleasure Grounds

Mrs. Florence Ayscough gave a brilliant paper on "Chinese Gardens" at the meeting of the American Woman's Club yesterday afternoon, illustrating her talk by exquisitely tinted lantern slides.

The material presented by Mrs. Ayscough was gathered from personal research into ancient Chinese poems and classics; from visits to various famous gardens in Soochow, Shanghai, Nanking and Peking, and from interviews with old Chinese scholars and was unusually worth while.

In speaking of Chinese gardens Mrs. Ayscough said in part, "It may seem a strange statement but it is nevertheless true, that to understand Chinese gardens a certain grasp of Chinese philosophy is essential. May we therefore at the outset study a diagram by which Pere Amiot, exceedingly wise Jesuit father who came to China in A. D. 1740, sought to make this philosophy clear.

"In the center of an upper circle is shown Shang Ti, the Creator. In the center of a lower circle is shown the 'Ch'i' or cital essence—the all powerful 'breath' of Shang Ti by means of which the T'ai Ch'i, that is the First or Ultimate Principle, is put into motion. This produces the two Secondary Principles, the famous Yin and Yang, or the Negative and Positive Principles in nature from which all living things spring.

"In this philosophy man holds no position as lord of the universe. Although he is the most important and the highest of the Ten Thousand Things, as all the Creations of Nature are called, he is still considered one of them, and finds his greatest joy in communion with, and contemplation of the other manifestations of the Universe which he may be said to look upon as his 'brothers.'

"If, as I have said, a grasp of this philosophy is necessary for a comprehension of gardens, it is equally necessary for an understanding of Chinese painting and Chinese poetry.

TO REPRESENT NATURE

"The Chinese idea of a garden is that it shall represent as closely as possible the innumerable natural scenes so dear to the heart of a scholar, that it shall reproduce as nearly as possible the site of a mountain retreat.

"Naturally the periods when an official could leave behind him the cares of the world and retire to the actual wilds were rare—therefore one may almost say that the planning of a Chinese garden was a case of literally bringing the mountain to Mahomet. Gardens were planned for various reasons and not the least frequent was to give pleasure to some woman, a mother or a lovely favorite, as of course the tastes of educated women, except in the matter of drinking wine, were the same as those of men.

"The Chinese gardens, though full of hills, lakes, valleys and vistas, really occupy a comparatively small space and extensive private pleasure grounds, with large lawns, wide herbaceous borders, and elaborate parterres such as are common in the West would not be tolerated for a minute.

"A Chinese has always been obliged to confine his gardens within a small space and has never been allowed to seriously

ASK CLUBWOMEN TO AID IN COMING RED CROSS DRIVE

Hope To Enlist All Shanghai Americans In Membership Campaign

The cause of the American Red Cross in China was presented at the meeting of the American Woman's Club held yesterday afternoon at the Carlton Cafe by Major Arthur Bassett.

Speaking of the Red Cross as an "agency of charity and an instrument of mercy," Major Bassett urged the members of the Club to co-operate in the membership drive which is to be launched shortly under the direction of Mr. Carl Crow.

An effort is to be made to make every American in Shanghai a member of the Red Cross. No subscriptions will be asked, but each American will be expected to take out a $2 Mex. membership in the local organisation.

TURKISH SITUATION IS SERIOUS AGAIN, ALLIED LEADERS ARE ANXIOUS

Kemalists Advance To British Wires And Seem Determined To Drive All Christians Out Of Constantinople; Four Tommies Stabbed By Demonstrators

ONLY BLUFFING, IS LONDON VIEW

Greeks And Armenians Fleeing From Country; Great Catastrophe Feared; Allied Leaders Announce Intention To Maintain Order In City For The Present

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—The affairs are approaching one of the greatest catastrophes in history. The Customs have begun application of the tariff collected in the Kemalist regions which is five-fold the war-time tariff.

Numerous better class Greeks and Armenians are leaving daily but the exodus will become uncontrollable when the time comes to withdraw the Allied forces. A communique issued by the Allied High Commissions to the effect that the forces in occupation will remain for the present to ensure law and order had a somewhat reassuring effect. Over 7,000 Greek refugees from the villages in the neighborhood of the Allied line embarked under British auspices yesterday. Everybody is endeavoring to convert liras into sterling, which is practically unobtainable and has touched the record of 1,000. It is reported that the Kemalists are imposing a levy on the native Christian inhabitants in the suburbs for the upkeep of the Turkish forces.

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—There is a threatening situation at Chanak. Although the Turkish troops are keeping behind the lines their gendarmerie, who are really troops with a different label, have advanced to practically against the British wires and are actually preventing the British patrols from advancing beyond the three-mile limit. General Sir Charles Harrington is taking up the matter with Ismet Pasha.

The demonstrations in the Asiatic quarters of Constantinople took a nasty turn yesterday when the windows of Christians' houses were smashed and two British soldiers were stabbed, necessitating the arrest of two Turkish police. Two British soldiers were also stabbed at Galata by the demonstrators who were shouting "Down with Britain, France and the Allies."

The general impression is that the Kemalists are bluffing with a view to making the Allied position in Constantinople untenable before the Lausanne Conference.

London, Nov. 7.—Whether Angora's recent moves are to be attributed to bluff, as some newspapers think, or whether the recent successes of the Kemalists have encouraged them seriously to anticipate that their demands can be enforced, the new situation is viewed seriously in London and newspaper correspondents are again striking notes reminiscent of the period before the Mudania negotiations when war loomed on the horizon but there is now a more confident note, doubtless inspired by the recent indications of a better Anglo-French understanding.

The newspapers unanimously refuse to consider Allied evacuation of Constantinople and accuse the Kemalists of seeking to impose terms in the spirit of conquerors.

The Daily Chronicle expresses the opinion that every important clause of the Mudania armistice is a dead letter and, moreover, the Turks clearly do not believe in the necessity for the Lausanne Conference.

The Times believes that there is no danger of war if the Allies firmly resist the obviously unwarranted demands.

The Daily News declares that unless prompt Anglo-French action is taken anything may happen. The most immediate anxiety, the paper says, is safety of the thousands of non-Turks in Constantinople.

Constantinople telegrams in this connection record alarm, notably among the Greeks and Armenians. One hundred thousand of the latter are preparing to leave.

It is stated that the Sultan, after refusing to abdicate, requested British protection. Two companies of guards have been despatched to patrol the Palace and grounds.

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—A telegram from Angora states that the National Assembly has instructed Ismet Pasha to secure acceptance at the Lausanne Conference of the following:

(1) That the frontiers of Turkey shall be in accordance with the National Pact, (2) Payment of indemnity by Greece, (3) Suppression of the capitulations, (4) Modification of the frontiers of Irak, (5) Complete indepen-

OVER $10,000 CLEARED ON FAIR OF WOMAN'S CLUB

Total Amount Expected To Be Almost $12,000

More than $10,000 was cleared at the Country Fair held recently in the Town Hall under the auspices of the American Woman's Club for the purpose of raising funds to start a building fund for an American Woman's Club in Shanghai.

According to Dr. Anne Walter Fearn, president of the Club, the returns from the various sections have not all come in and it is believed that the total amount cleared will near the $12,000 mark.

A vote of appreciation was given by the members to Mrs. Gardner Crane for her untiring efforts in putting over the bazaar. Dr. Fearn expressed her gratitude to the members who so willingly cooperated.

While the club is rejoicing over the success of the bazaar financially, it is happy also because the work of the County Fair brought the members of the club closer together as well as bringing in a number of new members.

Reparations Body Warns Germany To Be More Definite

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 7.—The Reparations Commission has handed to the German Government a Note requesting more definite and concrete proposals with regard to the stabilisation of the mark and desiring to know the steps which are being taken to regulate finances in accordance with the engagements undertaken by Germany in July and requesting a speedy reply.

Noyes Is Guest Of Stevens At Peking

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—Mr. F. W. Stevens entertained representatives of the English press of Peking to a luncheon today to meet Mr. Noyes, President of the Associated Press, for whom a number of official and unofficial entertainments are being arranged.

FENG DUE NOV. 9

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—It is reported semi-officially that General Feng Yu-hsiang will arrive in Peking on November 9 to take his official residence at General Chang Tso-lin's former official residence in Peking.

dence for Turkey, financially, economically and politically.

Rafet Pasha has suppressed the Turkish Senate.

The Allied Generals met Rafet Pasha today.

The Angora representative has handed the Allied High Commissioners a second Note, stating that warships of all nationalities must ask for authorization to pass the Straits and must salute the new Government in port. The Note states that the regulations of the National Assembly provide that only one warship at a time can enter Turkish ports and then only if properly authorized. The Allied High Commissioners have categorically refused to discuss the Angora demand regarding warships, as contrary to the terms of the original armistice and Mudania Convention.

A further note demands that the State shall take over the railway.

There has been no further news with regard to the abdication of the Sultan but it is believed that the British authorities are taking measures to protect the Sultan and the heir to the throne.

The British High Commissioner at the Sultan's request is visiting him this afternoon.

British troops have since yesterday been assisting the guard at the Palace.

Berne, Nov. 6.—It is reported from Constantinople that the Sultan attempted to depart but was prevented from doing so by the inhabitants.

London, Nov. 6.—It is authoritatively stated that the developments in Constantinople are very serious. The appointment of an administration favorable to Angora is an internal matter not concerning outsiders.

Any demand that Angora should take over the civil administration of the occupied zone is admissible provided the terms of the Mudania Convention are upheld, securing Allied military occupation of the zone, but any demand for Kemalist military occupation of the zone is inadmissable by the Allies as conflicting with the Convention.

In consequence of the conflicting position in Constantinople it is now thought likely that the Lausanne Conference may be postponed for a week or more. Any further untoward event in Constantinople might easily create an entirely different situation.

5,000 EMPLOYES OF TOBACCO FIRM JOIN STRIKE HERE

Nanyang Brothers' Workers Walk Out Of Wayside Factory

Five thousand employes of the Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Company factory in Wayside went on strike yesterday afternoon. The strikers have as yet presented no demands, but their action is believed to have been taken as a sympathetic move in connection with the strike of cotton mill and B.A.T. workers in Pootung.

No negotiations are reported between the cotton mill men and the Yokka mill officials, but negotiations are proceeding between the B.A.T. and their striking workmen. A further conference is to be held today. The strikers are asking an increase in wages ranging from 20 to 40 percent and that the Pootung Weavers' Union be allowed to remain.

Woman's Club Is Told Of Gardens

interfere with the most important business of life—agriculture."

According to Mrs. Ayscough one of the loveliest gardens in Shanghai was located to the North and West of the Temple of the City Wall and was originally the "Garden of Ease." The Yu Yuan, or "Garden of Ease," belonged to Pan Yun-tuan, who built it to give his mother pleasure. Within are pavilions, terraces, pools and rocks. It was very beautiful and no other garden in the district could compare with it, according to the Shanghai Record.

Mrs. Ayscough graphically described a visit to the site of this garden.

ROMANTIC HISTORY

"According to tradition the name of Pan's garden reached the ears of the Emperor, who strongly disapproved that a subject should indulge in such magnificence, and therefore Pan found it advisable to make the whole place over to the public, who used it as the 'Temple of the City Walls and City Moat.'

"But the record does not hint at such a thing. On the contrary it says that Pan En's dwelling house, which stood on the site occupied now by the Roman Catholic Cathedral, covered a 'lit' ground, and that when Pan was eighty years old he built a hall naming it the 'Hall of the Four Old Ones.'

"The Record states further that in A. D. 1761 the Shanghai people bought Pan En's garden from those who came after him; with public funds they repaired it and called it the Western Garden.

"It states further that at the time it was bought it consisted of seventy-seven mow of ground and that the stones and hills were all as they had been in the time of Pan En. This Western Garden was placed in the hands of the Bean Merchants Guild.

"Continuing, it says that in 1854 the T'ai P'ing rebels pillaged the city and that in 1861 foreign houses were built for the Western soldiers to live in, that the rock hills of the garden were pulled to pieces in order to fill up the ponds and make the ground for these houses to stand on.

"The account of the 'Garden of Ease' closes with the words 'Since then at what places stood hills—at what places lay pools—cannot be known.'"

GIVES VERSE

An exquisite bit of verse read by Mrs. Ayscough, written by a Chinese poet soon after the glory of the Garden of Ease had passed, is as follows:—

"As in the turn of an eye, how often have the many glories altered!

"The light on the lake, the color of the hills, these are as before.

"The scent from the open-work gauze from the fine silks, of the courtesans among the flowers, has departed.

"The dreams are cold, gone are the days of songs of music, from the sheng played in boats under the moon.

"The painted pavilion low lets in the sunset-hour rain, a filigree hair-pin lies neglected on the floor.

"Broken is the bridge, faded are the willows, they brush the autumn mist.

"The wanderer must not sigh in vain over the glories now ruined and abandoned.

"The Garden of the Golden Valley, famous in former years, is in even more a grievous state."

"Having discussed gardens in a general manner let us consider the furnishings. As far as flowers are concerned certain definite places are prepared for certain flowers. The flowering trees are carefully placed. The pomies have their terraces, the lotus blooms their pools, while the chrysanthemums and epidendrums are as a rule grown in pots.

"The furnishings of a garden apart from plants and trees, the rocks and pools are the writings and paintings which embellish the different buildings and walls."

Traders With Russia Must Have Permit From Soviet

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Oct. 10.—During the last fortnight certain statements have appeared in the European press to the effect that the Soviet Government has initiated a new departure in the province of foreign trade, and is ready to grant licences to private traders to export and import goods freely from and into Russia. From this a deduction is made that the Soviet Government is abrogating its insistence on the monopoly of foreign trade and on the control which up till now it has exercised over that trade.

The above statements do not correctly represent the true state of affairs, and are likely to mislead commercial firms. The conference of the representatives of the commissariat of Foreign Trade, which was held in Moscow in June last, affirmed the inviolability of the monopoly of foreign trade and the necessity of its being conducted, as before, under the strict supervision and control of the States, as exercised by the Commissariat of Foreign Trade and its local agents and representatives.

The leading members of the Russian Government present at this conference, such as Rykov, who was then Acting Chairman of the Council, of People's Commissars, and Bogdanov, chairman of the Supreme Economic council spoke at the conference to the same effect, and confirmed that this policy must be regarded as the definite decision of the Russian Government.

At the same time, and subject to the above provisions, the conference agreed that private persons in Russia, as well as private enterprises existing there, may be allowed to import from abroad the products necessary for their trades or industries, either by way of passing their orders through the authorised agencies of the Commissariat of Foreign Trade, or directly from foreign firms and merchants, provided, in the latter case, that they receive from the Commissariat of Foreign Trade, or from its agencies, the prescibed export or import permit.

Permits for export or import are issued by the Permits Departments of the Commissariat of Foreign Trade either in Moscow or in the provincial offices of the Commissariat, on application. The application must state the names and addresses of both purchasers and sellers, the object of the transaction, the quantity, specification, and whereabouts of the goods, the terms of payment, insurance and freight, and the customs point through which the goods are to be imported or exported. Applications are examined by a special bureau of the Permits Departments, upon the recommendation of which the permits are either granted or refused.

Permits for the export of goods from Russia can be obtained solely through the Permits Departments, while permits for the import of goods into Russia may be obtained either from the Permits Departments or from the representatives of the Commissariat of Foreign Trade abroad, provided that the latter approve of the price and terms of the contract under which the goods are to be imported.

Export and import permits are subject to a permit duty of five percent of, the invoice value of the goods, of which three percent is levied in favor of the States and two percent is turned over to the Central Famine Relief Committee. This duty is payable either in goods or in foreign currency in the case of goods being exported from Russia. The duty may be paid, on exports, either to the foreign trade representative upon the receipt of payment for the sale of the goods, or in Russia calculated at the current prices for similar goods ruling on the foreign exchanges. The duty in the case of import is payable on the issue of the permit in the currency of the country from which they are being exported.

This permit duty is, of course, distinct from customs duties. The State Bank has been authorised to advance credits to big industrial organisations and State enterprises to enable them to pay in advance duties in connection with exports.

A permit must be obtained in the case of each consignment of goods and is issued for a definite period, after which it ceases to be valid. The permits are not transferable. False declarations are punishable by law and render the goods liable to confiscation.

As will be seen from the above the Commissariat for Foreign Trade has not abrogated its right of control over export and import transactions made with its approval.

Persons and firms in Great Britain who have arranged contracts with State or private organisations in Russia must apply for permits to the Russian Trade Delegation at 49 Moorgate, E. C. Under no circumstances are goods to be sent to Russia without such a permit.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR
No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.
Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.
Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.
The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:
Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefully and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

POLISH REFUGEES IN NEED HERE; DONATIONS ASKED

Food, Clothing And Money Required To Aid Destitute Party

Shanghai, which has proven its generosity time and again when the call was made to aid the needy, now has opportunity to step into the breach once more and render seriously needed service in the case of a band of Polish refugees now destitute in the city.

The little band of refugees, thirty-one in all—ten men, eleven women and ten children—were driven out of the Russian Amur district by the Bolsheviks, fleeing with little more than the clothing they wore. They came first to Harbin, where the men tried to obtain work but were unsuccessful. Then they came on to Shanghai, hoping for better luck here. They landed here on September 27, but efforts to find employment by the male members of the little contingent proved fruitless.

For five days and nights the party "camped out" on the Japanese wharf at which they had landed. Then they were found by one of the French Fathers, who made efforts immediately to secure them a place to stay. Through his efforts a barn, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. M. Rangel, was placed at the disposal of the refugees and through further effort a small subscription list was started, among those giving help being the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, the Charity League, the Polish Relief Committee and several individuals.

The refugees claim that the Polish organisation and officials here declined to give assistance because the party left Harbin without the permission of the authorities. But, they state, it was a question of leave or starve to death for them and they had high hopes of securing employment here.

Mrs. Rangel has estimated that $7 a day will provide the bare necessities of life for the men, women and children, but with the cold weather coming on a larger allowance is imperative. Food, clothing and money donations are required. Food and clothing may be sent to Mrs. V. Pereira, treasurer of the Charity League, at 69 Rue du Consulat, and subscriptions if desired may be sent to The China Press, which will turn the money over to the organisations looking after the needy party.

DEDICATION HELD OF SANATORIUM AT DOOR OF HOPE

New Building Is Memorial For Mrs. George F. Fitch

The Door of Hope Mission held the opening service and dedication of their new Sanatorium building yesterday afternoon at three-thirty. The building, which was recently completed, is largely the gift of Dr. and Mrs. Tooker and is a memorial to Mrs. Tooker's mother, Mrs. George F. Fitch, who was one of the founders of the Door of Hope Mission and was closely associated with it from its inception in 1901 to the time of her death in 1918. Contributions have also been received from other friends who loved and mourn Mrs. Fitch.

The inmates of the Door of Hope have greatly needed such an institution for the care of medical cases and infectious diseases and the new building will thus supply a long felt and pressing want.

The dedication service was opened by the singing of the Doxology, followed by a prayer by the Rev. Robert Fitch and a solo by Miss Dieterle. The President of the Door Hope Committee, Mrs. Edward Evans, spoke appreciately of Mrs. Fitch's long and loving service in that work, and Mr. Wang Hang-tong told of her labors in the Presbyterian Mission Church. The meeting closed with the benediction by the Rev. George F. Fitch.

After the service the new building was inspected by the visitors and tea was served in the Industrial Home of the Door of Hope.

U.S. CONSUL PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO MEDICAL MEN

Mr. E. S. Cunningham Lands Missionaries At Soochow Hospital Opening

High tribute to the work of the medical missionary was paid by United States Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham in an address delivered yesterday in Soochow on the occasion of the opening of the new Soochow Hospital.

The dedication ceremonies were attended by many Shanghai people, who gathered to inspect and participate in the opening of the fine new institution. Bishop S. R. Hay, Dr. J. H. Snoke, Mr. L. C. Goodrich and several others were among the speakers of the day, Bishop Hay dedicating the building.

"I have always been greatly impressed with the wonderful work that is being done in the various parts of the world by the medical missionary," Mr. Cunningham said in part, "but the importance of the work being done in China was not realised until recently when this was being investigated and it is surprising to know the number of places where there are established medical activities in some form or another.

"The medical missionary, his subordinates and institutions are the most important contributions that the missionaries have made to China. The foreign missionary brings to China, aside from a spiritual education, general education and devotes much of his energies to philanthropy. They have established various institutions but the principal philanthropy of the missionary in China is the hospital which is, to the minds of many, the greatest contribution the West has made to China and to the betterment of mankind resident here.

"The surgeon's knife and the physicians prescription brings confidence in the ability of the missionary to do great good and these have contributed much to overcome a certain form of superstition which made the work of the physician and the surgeon extremely difficulty in the initiative. Perhaps the greatness of Christianity as a spiritual force is the ability to deliver its messages in different forms at different times so that all may understand and benefit thereby. In China what was most needed was to develop a body strong, clean and noble to house the soul rejuvenated, and it is in this sense that the medical missionary was perhaps conceived."

NAVY HOLIDAY

(China Press Service)

Washington, Oct. 23.—Friday, October 27, will be Navy day. On that day the country will be expected to pay tribute to the navy. Patriotic organisations have arranged programs in the navy's honor.

Many governors are planning to issue proclamations to the people of their states in honor of the sailors. All American naval vessels at home and abroad and American merchant ships will be decorated. It will be a holiday in the navy.

the turn into the stretch, when he took the lead and held it to the finish. Golf Bird made a game effort in front of the stands but could not come through. A length and a half separated first and second, and second and third ponies. Pintail was fourth. The win dividend was $20.60.

The Lama Miau Stakes, two miles race, was won by Ajax, with A. N. Dallas riding. Letchfield, Stewart up, was second, and Billy Hill rode The Peacock to third place. Seabird was fourth.

Patapouff, Standlight and Nelson were the leaders the first time past the judges and a mile and a half from home Frank Vida called on King's Cross, the pony responding nicely and easing up to second place behind Ajax, which had taken the lead a minute before. The ponies went into the stretch with Ajax leading and King's Cross comfortably in second place.

Passing the big public stand, Vida's mount gave up the ghost and Ajax increased his lead. Up tore Stewart on Lotchfield, the pony staging a great last-minute dash. Hill was a poor third.

The Magpie, the mount Billy Hill qualified on Monday, repeated yesterday by snatching a victory in the sixth event, The Rubicon Plate, by a head, from Pep. Heard on Christmas Tree shot into the lead at the start and increased it until at one time he was a good five lengths ahead of the bunch. The Magpie, Pep and Chang Tso-lin gradually cut down the long lead, however, and rounding into the stretch The Gipsy Bird also moved up. Johnstone on Pep made a pretty try in front of the stands but Hill was able to get the last ounce from the piebald and won by a nose, Chang Tso-lin running third. The Magpie was a good favorite with The Gypsy Bird favored for second position.

HARBIN WINS

Brand on Harbin won the Racing Stakes, the seventh race, by a safe two lengths, Crowborough being unable to touch the Robson chesnut. Moon rode his The Knut into third place with Chatsfield a mediocre fourth. Downsfield stepped out in front at the start but fizzled when the real competition began. Sunstar was figured as the favorite by the betting fraternity but failed to show the required class, and Indiana and Re-Organisation, second and third choices of the plungers, also failed to get into the photograph.

The Tiny Bird, with Brand up, was a red-hot favorite for the Sycee Stakes, the eighth event on the card, but was beaten by Sir Spots at the finish line by a head. Dreamland was piloted to third place, losing to The Tiny Bird by a neck. All three ponies flashed by the stands like nags pulling a Roman chariot and it took the judges and their microscopic eyes to decide the winner.

OVATION FOR HILL

Billy Hill received an ovation from the stands when he qualified Castle Sycee in the ninth race, winning by a half-length from Morriss on Patsfield. Shenkoland, which is still not qualified for The Champions, was a poor third. Shenkoland was left at the post and gave a remarkable exhibition to get into the first three at all. Dallas piloted the Day grey around the bunch at the rail in nice fashion, however, and managed to squeeze into third place. Knoll on Scesaplana, who got away in the lead, finished fourth.

It was figured to be Shenkoland's race easily and the Day pony was a sizzling favorite, over half the 'to win' bets being on his nose. Castle Sycee was second choice.

The last race of the day was again run in the twilight. 'Beaver won by its chin whiskers from Heard on Widgeon after they had led the pack of subgriffins all the way around. Moller on Dash was third, three lengths behind; and Barney Google's Spark Plug, second choice of the betters, was a mediocre fourth. Barney Google, interviewed last night, intimated that Spark Plug didn't know the milk route and would do better at a little shorter distance.

BIG LEAGUERS TO BE HERE DEC. 16; MAY HAVE GAME

Manager Gallop, of the Shanghai Baseball team, who is now in Japan, had a talk recently with Manager Hunter, leader of the American big leaguers who are now touring Japan. Mr. Gallop says the American players will be in Shanghai, on their way to Manila, on Dec. 16.

Here are Herby's own comments on the baseball situation in Japan:

Met Herbert Hunter and his ball players in Tokio, on the 30th, they having just arrived on the Empress of Canada. Spoke to him about their coming to Shanghai, and unfortunately they will not reach there until December 16, which will in all probability be too cold for a game, though I left the matter contingent upon our having a game, should it so happen that we might get a warm day or two while they are with us, which will only be for two or three days at the longest. Would like to stage it if possible, just to give the fans something very interesting to see, by way of a post season event.

After they finish playing in Tokio, they will visit Western Japan and make Shanghai via Peking and Tientsin. After leaving Shanghai they go to Manila and then home.

They are all anxious to get to Shanghai and sincerely hope that conditions will permit them to entertain our fans, and I am sure the fans will look forward to seeing them.

Have seen some baseball here, including games played by Meiji, Waseda and Keio. They are the three best teams in Japan, better than the Diamonds or Osaka Mainichi. The Diamond team is not one, two, three, compared with the team that came to Shanghai, most of their good players having joined to Mainichi.

The three above mentioned college teams are about as evenly matched as three teams can possibly be and games that I have seen them play with each other, have been won by the teams that were lucky to get the breaks. Watanabe for Meiji, Nitta for Keio and Tanaguchi for Waseda are the three first string pitchers. Tanaguchi is a southpaw. Watanabe has more speed and stuff than the other two, but seems to falter for an inning or two, and goes up in the air too easily. He was pitching much better ball in Shanghai than I have seen him pitch here. Nitta is a great batter as well as a good pitcher. Tanaguchi is a real smart ball player and a pitcher who uses the old bean.

Was surprised at the number of left handers they have in the box now. Saw three games in Kobe one Sunday and five of the six pitchers were left handers, and all were good.

One thing that impressed me is the way they treat their umpires. I have yet to see them set up any kind of a kick and have seen some pretty poor decisions, which if pulled in Shanghai would cause a near riot. The game has taken firm hold here and everybody is playing it. One sees kids just able to walk, throwing a ball around. All in all, they are fast and good fielders, have good pitchers, but don't seem to be heavy hitters. Strike outs are many and hits few during a game.

Soviet Sympathisers Observe Anniversary Of Russian Revolution

The fifth anniversary of the Russian revolution was observed quietly by the Bolshevik elements of the local Russian colony yesterday. Offices of Soviet sympathisers were generally closed for the day.

In the International Settlement and the French Concession small handbills were distributed or posted up bearing the words, in English and Chinese, "Recognise Soviet Russia. November 7, 1922. 5th anniversary of the Russian Revolution."

10,000 See Track Meet At Hangchow

(China Press Correspondence)

Hangchow, Nov. 5.—Ten thousand people witnessed the second annual track meet of the Hangchow Middle School Athletic Association here. Perfect weather conditions prevailed and there was tremendous enthusiasm. Holiday was observed in all the schools and their various student bodies turned out en masse.

The meet with its various accompaniments was a scene of interest throughout, reminding Westerners of the days of three ring circus. While pole vaults, hurdles, and dashes were under way on the track and field, exhibits of the individual schools were rotating in regular order throughout the day on another part of the field within the track.

Thirty-four schools with 195 individuals participated in the events of the day, and give evidence of remarkable growth in the increase of interest in sports and physical training generally. The drills and dancing of some of the girls' schools were especially notable for their grace. The two schools attracting the most attention by their exhibits were the Government Women's Normal and the Union Girls' School. The instructors of both schools are graduates of the Y.W.C.A. Physical Training School in Shanghai.

The track events were closely contested. Almost at the end of the meet there was a near blow-up, because of a close decision in the mile run. First and second places could easily have been split between two schools, and no fuss would have been made. As it was the decision decided the final standing of the two leading teams and because it was a neck and neck finish, the losing school forgot its sportmanship and almost precipitated a free for all fight.

The high scores were Hangchow College with twenty-two points; the Government First Normal with 20 points, and Wayland and Anding academy tied for third place with fourteen points each. The winner of first place was Yui Kya-kyin of Anding with thirteen of the fourteen points won by his school. Yui won first in the 100 and 440, and second in the pole-vault. The winner of second place was Mao Ts-en of Hangchow College. First place in the half mile, second in the 220 and third in the low hurdles.

'Lovers In Dickens' Is Lecture Topic At Guild Tonight

The third meeting of the Union Church Literary and Social Guild for the season will be held in the Lecture Hall this evening at 8:45. Mr. Henry Speakman will read a paper entitled "Lovers in Dickens" which will prove of interest to all, but especially to those who are most at home in the novels of Dickens. The meeting is open to the public and it will not be necessary to present membership tickets at the door.

At the meeting a fortnight later a Mock Trial is to be given by the boys of the Public School under the direction of Mr. G. E. Matthews.

Where England Stands At Present

(Prof. Elie Halevy in La Revue Politique et Parlementaire, July 10, translated for The Living Age)

It is the middle classes, staggering under a burden of direct taxation that are now giving the government concern. They demand strict economy in public expenditures, and as a result, the whole policy of government welfare work has been radically curtailed. The housing program was stopped after 166,000 tenements or workers' dwellings had been contracted for. Of these, 68,000 are finished, 69,000 are in course of erection, and 39,000 have not yet been started—and perhaps never will be, unless money is provided. The new public school act is not enforced for similar reasons.

Meanwhile nothing has shaken the solid structure of the Labor party, and if it has lost some seats of late in city councils, because protesting taxpayers demanded economy, it has won a series of victories in parliamentary by-elections. It hopes to double and perhaps treble its delegation in the House of Commons at the next general election. It is the least doctrinaire labor party in the world. It is an opportunist organization to meet the daily emergencies of the working people as they arise. If such action harmonises with socialism, well and good; but if not, its undogmatic leaders throw the socialist program aside. We cannot even claim that the failure of the ambitious projects for placing the industries and commerce of the kingdom under state control has been unwelcome to the trade unions. We might say that these proposed reforms were defeated with the connivance, and even the collaboration, of labor leaders.

DOMINATING ECONOMIC FACT

The economic history of Europe for 20 years has been dominated by one great fact: the rapid rise in the cost of living. That movement does not date from the war, but it was accelerated by the war until everybody was acutely conscious of it. Inflation and a simultaneous falling off of production explain why this movement has of late acquired unprecedented rapidity. Prior to 1914, it might be explained by the growing output of gold. However that may be, the rise in prices has caused revolutionary changes in the distribution of wealth. Whoever lives on a fixed income, whether derived from security investments or received for services, instinctively feels that he belongs to a decadent class. While such persons are growing poorer, those who own physical property, whether manufacturers or merchants, are rapidly growing richer.

But where shall we place the wage earners in this category? Are they the victims of the beneficiaries of this new situation? Their position is so unstable that it is difficult to define. If they increase their wages by strikes and threats of strikes, they only stimulate the rise in the cost of living. While each new addition to his wages makes the workingman feel his power, his discovery that the prosperity is an elusive will-o'-the-wisp that ever escapes his grap fills his soul with sullen discontent. He becomes a revolutionary.

Eventually there is a crisis. Manufacturers and merchants can no longer sell their goods. They lower prices by the minimum required to move their stocks, and lower wages by the maximum that their workingmen will bear. If the later strike, the employer does not suffer. For in the first place, the strike is doomed to fail; in the second place, it reduces the number of producers at the very moment when owners of goods desire to restrict production. Strikes merely add new hordes of unemployed to the number already without work.

In England these idle wage earners multiplied, between the summer of 1920 and the spring of 1921, until they approached two millions. Thereupon unemployment naturally became the first concern of every labor leader.

Before the war, England outdid Germany in her system of workingmen's insurance against accidents, illness and unemployment. The law of 1911 experimentally taxed the cost of this insurance against three parties: the employers, the workingmen and the government. Successive amendments to the law have extended it until it now covers twelve million workers.

However, a weekly dole of 15 shillings, even with the addition of five shillings for his wife and one shilling for each child more than 14 years of age, is not enough to keep a workingman above the distress level. Even if the amount were raised to a pound sterling at the sole expense of the taxpayers, as the Labor party demands, it would not be enough. So the British public is asking whether there is not a more radical remedy that will cure the original evil of unemployment.

HER PRIMARY PROBLEM

Such a remedy exists—to cover the markets that gave work to British labor before the war. England's primary problem is not to balance her budget or to collect the utmost indemnity from Germany; it is to solve the unemployment crisis, to revive the trade and industry of central and eastern Europe, and to reopen former markets for her wares.

The situation has turned her people back to the economic convictions dear to their fathers. They again believe that the citizen does not become wealthy by accumulating money, but by trading with other producers, whose prosperity is the cornerstone of his own prosperity. Adam Smith and Ricardo preached this doctrine. Richard Cobden popularised it with the masses three-quarters of a century ago. Norman Angel, the author of "The Great Illusion," restated it on the eve of the late war. John Maynard Keynes, the prophet of "The Economic Consequences of the Peace," is its present champion. The Labor party stands solidly behind these principles. But are they labor principles? Adam Smith, Ricardo, Richard Cobden, Norman Angel, and Maynard Keynes are far from being socialists; they are doctrinaire liberals, and convinced adversaries of socialism.

This ebbing of socialist idealism in England, of which every fact that we have cited gives indubitable evidence will, we venture to predict, prove permanent. Socialists may assert that the popularity of state socialism after 1914 was an abnormal phenomenon, having no connection with the health progress of socialist thought; that the apparent reaction of today is merely a return to normal, and that when it has run its course and the present crisis has passed, socialism will again begin to make converts. Perhaps. But this does not affect the fact that the Labor party has willfully neglected a peculiarly favorable opportunity to put through the nationalisation of Great Britain's coal mines and railways without much shock to existing business. And this occasion having passed—passed, as we have tried to make clear, with the Labor party's connivance—that body now finds itself in an inconsistent position. Solidly supported by a disciplined organisation, its representatives sit in Parliament as the recognised opposition to Lloyd George's bourgeois coalition. But when the party casts about for a program around which the masses of its followers can rally on election day, it has no socialist doctrine to offer, but proclaims old principles championed by bourgeois liberalism for half a century.

Bureau To Settle Commercial Disputes

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 6.—The American section of the International Chamber of Commerce announces that the Chamber has perfected plans for the establishment of international commercial arbitration to settle commercial disputes independent of government agencies. The court will be administered from the headquarters of the Chamber in Paris under the chairmanship of M. Hermert, President of the Dutch Chamber of Commerce.

The court will be appointed by 28 nations including Great Britain, France, the United States, Spain, Portugal, the Netherlands, Japan, Italy, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway, Poland and Argentina. Normally its awards should be given within 60 days.

Arbitration in disputes between United States traders and certain South American countries under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce have been declared a decided success.

TELLS OF SAVING TO BE SECURED BY CONSERVANCY

Tuchun Chi Puts Hwai Valley Plan Before Pacific Conference

Interesting figures to show the enormous gain which would be accomplished by the completion of the Hwai Valley Conservancy scheme, both in money and in foodstuffs, are given in a letter sent by Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan of this province to Mr. George Fitch, delegate to the Pan-Pacific Commercial Conference at Honolulu for presentation before that assembly.

The text of the communication follows:

Nanking, October 2, 1922

To Mr. Geo. A. Fitch:

My attention has been called to what I consider a most important question on the agenda of the coming Pan-Pacific Commercial Conference: "Steps to be taken toward prevention of crises in the world rice situation." The Hwai Valley Conservancy project has a close bearing on this subject, as well as on the whole question of famine relief.

Last year, as a result of the serious floods in the provinces of Kiangsu and Anhuei, approximately 52,920,800 mow of land were inundated by water, Estimating the value of seed, fertiliser, etc., at the very low figure of three dollars per mow, the total loss in this district was not less than $188,762,400. Through the proposed reclamation works, however, an additional area of fifty million mow would be brought under cultivation. Estimating the production of rice at one and a half piculs per mow, this would mean a crop of 75 million piculs; and taking a minimum rate for rice, $5.00 per picul, the total revenue from this reclaimed land should be not less than $375,000,000.

Thus would not only the whole country of China be benefited, but we would also have a large quantity of rice available for export. It would result in materially reducing the cost of living, and consequently the cost of raw materials generally, increase production and commerce, and furthermore assist in the solution of our national financial problem and make for the general peace of the Yangtsze valley. I therefore consider that the conservancy of the Hwai River is the most important question before our country today.

There is yet another important consideration: In America and Europe there are constant and serious strikes and general industrial unrest and strife. This state of affairs is gradually being imported into our country, and will grow worse if famines and the cost of living continue to increase. It will perish, however, and commerce and industry prosper if we take the proper steps at this time.

I, the Honorary President of the Hwai Valley Conservancy Board, earnestly request you on behalf of our Board to present to the Pan-Pacific Commercial Conference a full statement of our proposed scheme of conservancy and reclamation, in order that they may understand the dangers we are now suffering and the great benefits to be derived by conserving the Hwai Valley and give us their co-operation in this movement.

Very cordially yours,

(Signed) CHI SHIH-YUAN,
Military Governor of Kiangsu

Bonar Law Sees Big Conservative Victory

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 6.—It is noteworthy that Mr. Lloyd George, in spite of the evidences of his popularity indicated by cheering crowds, no longer figures among the speakers reported verbatim.

This may be due to lack of space for the papers today were hardly able to give room to Saturday's speeches, the perusal of which must be bewildering to the electorate for there is no clearcut issue like Home Rule or Tariff Reform.

The tone of personal recrimination in the speeches is sharpening, suggesting that the only issue for the electors is the ex-Government's record, especially in the Near East.

There are three-cornered contests in 209 constituencies, four-cornered in 26 and even five or six candidates in each of half a dozen constituencies. The Conservatives are attacking the national Liberals for 30 seats.

The National Liberals are attacking 4 Conservatives, and 11 Liberals, while the Independent Liberals are attacking 23 National Liberals, including 10 in Scotland where the evidences of a Conservative and National Liberal understanding are very strong.

All of the 32 women candidates have to fight.

Mr. Bonar Law's prediction of a big Conservative majority is no shared by Lord Birkenhead who today publishes advice to the Conservative women of Liverpool to vote for Conservative candidates only if they undertake to cooperate with Mr. Lloyd George. Lord Birkenhead says that it is inconceivable that Mr. Bonar Law will obtain a working majority and Mr. Lloyd George is the only leader with whom he can combine.

With no outstanding issue and with a multiplication of candidates so that straight fights will be very few the party organisers, unlike those in previous elections are somewhat doubtful of their prospects but the Independent Liberals and Laborites both declare that reports from constituencies are encouraging.

The Labor headquarters today declared that they were not dismayed by the agitation on the subject of a capital levy, which their opponents are exploiting to the utmost. An official said that the Party would adhere to its levy plan as the only method of dealing with the National Debt. The official anticipated that 200 Labor candidates would be elected.

The personalities of the contest up to the present have been largely confined to the Conservatives, Independent Conservatives and the National Liberals. The latter, who claim 178 candidates as compared with the 135 with which they were generally credited, point out that the Conservatives nominated include 78 followers of Mr. Austen Chamberlain whose attitude after the election is uncertain.

Japan Defends Stand On The Twenty-one Demands

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 5.—With reference to the report that the Chinese Parliament at Peking on the 1st instant unanimously passed as an urgency motion the bill proclaiming the invalidity of the so-called Twenty One Demands, a certain high official of the Japanese Government states as follows:

The points on the basis of which Chinese politicians insist upon the invalidity of the Twenty One Demands are twofold, namely, that the Treaty was concluded by Japan through coercion and that the Treaty was entered into without the approval and ratification of the Chinese Parliament.

The reason why approval was not then obtained from the Parliament was that Yuan Shih-kai, the second president of the Republic of China, dissolved the Parliament owing to his personal necessity and did not ask the Parliament for its approval a matter with which Japan has nothing to do.

As for Japan's coercion of China anyone who has read through the documents relating to the Sino-Japanese negotiations will readily see that, with regard to the contents of the Treaty, Japan never resorted to any measures whatever that can be regarded as coercion. Those items concerning Manchuria and Mongolia were sanctioned by President Yuan Shih-kai outright without deliberation. Judging from the fact, therefore, that in conducting the negotiations concerning the foregoing items no difficulty was found. It is quite evident that Japan did not take any threatening measures.

In short, the Treaty, comprising the Twenty One Demands, is such a one that has been concluded through lawful and proper formalities between nation and nation, and there is no room for the argument at this juncture whether the Treaty is valid or invalid.

More than that, the Treaty was officially recognised at the Paris Peace Conference by all Powers participating in the Conference, and when the four fundamental principles vis-a-vis China, which were proposed by Mr. Root, were discussed and agreed upon, an understanding was effected that no reference should be made to the various treaties already entered into between China and other Powers in the past and in consequence such treaties will not affect the interests of the Powers, it will be seen that the Treaty, comprising the Twenty One Demands, has without doubt been approved by the Washington Conference.

Such being the case, even though China strongly insists upon the invalidity of the Treaty, the reflection will be evident. It goes without saying, therefore that even if the Chinese Government should persist in declaring the Treaty invalid, as well as in the retrocession of Kwantung Province, the Japanese Government will without need for deliberation reject such unreasonable demands, thereby leaving no room for negotiations in this connection.

Naval Uniforms Are To Be Changed

(China Press Service)

Washington, Nov. 6.—Rear-Admiral Thomas Washington, chief of the bureau of navigation, today issued orders for minor changes in the naval uniform. The regulations deprive the chief warrant officers of the full half inch sleeve braid instituted by Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels. The new regulations restore the broken gold stripe of previous years.

The green and olive drab uniforms for naval aviators are banned. They must wear the regulation blue cap.

"MUST HOLD FAST"

De Valera Denies Peace Is In Sight

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 6.—Mr. de Valera in a statement issued recently declares that there is no truth in the rumors of peace negotiations. He says that the principles which the Republicans are defending, are, by their nature irreducible and not susceptible to a compromise. Victory for the Republic or utter defeat and extermination are now the only alternatives.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

General Electric Official Coming

(China Press Service)

Peking, Nov. 6.—Mr. G. E. Emmons, Vice-President of the General Electric Company; Mrs. Emmons and their son, Lawrence Emmons; Mr. J. C. Ryan, Sales Manager, Department of the Far East of the International General Electric Company, accompanied by Mr. W. M. States, Manager of the International General Electric Company, Shanghai, left here yesterday for Shanghai.

Mr. Emmons has just completed a survey of the industrial conditions in Japan. While in Japan, Mr. Emmons was in consultation with the Shibaura Engineering Works in connection with their new manufacturing plant to be located in the outskirts of Tokio. This will be when completed the largest plant in the Far East devoted exclusively to the manufacture of electrical machinery. Mr. Emmons has for many years been in charge of the General Electric Company Schenectady Works. His trip to China is for the purpose of studying industrial conditions in this country. Mr. Emmons and his family will leave Shanghai on the steamer President Pierce, sailing Saturday, November 11, for San Francisco.

Mr. J. C. Ryan has been in charge of Far Eastern sales for the International General Electric Company since its organisation. He is now in China in order to make a study of sales methods in this country and will later go to the Philippines for the same purpose. Mr. Ryan has also visited Japan where he devoted several weeks to an intensive study of Japanese sales methods.

Mr. Ryan will be accompanied by Mr. States on his trip to the Philippines and South China.

A little and good

Here you see both sides of one

THERE is a distinguishing feature in the business of the house of HAIG & HAIG. Most Distillers have various brands of varying qualities. HAIG & HAIG have one brand only, and they claim (and the public acclaim) that it is the finest that goes from Scotland.

It is a regrettable fact that all retailers have not the same high standard of commercial honesty, and it is known that cheaper brands are sometimes passed on to the public under the label of houses of high repute.

When you see a genuine bottle of HAIG & HAIG Five Stars Scots Whisky it will be the same fine quality in London, in Lucknow, or in Labrador; in the Langham Hotel, in the G.O.H. at Colombo, and in the best Clubs in Cape Town.

Haig & Haig Five Stars Scots Whisky

A second quality Haig & Haig could not be filled into a Haig & Haig bottle because there isn't a second quality.

Haig & Haig is also known easily by the fact that you pay a little extra for it.

Say HAIG & HAIG or you may get a cheaper brand substituted.

Protestants And Catholics At Loggerheads In Rome

Rome, Oct. 12.—Recent protests against the activities of the American Y. M. C. A. have drawn a good deal of comment in America. What happened was that Signor Novasio, member of the Popolari, which is a Roman Catholic party, asked the Government, during a session of the Chamber, whether it was aware "of the danger of the presence in Italy of the Y. M. C. A.; of the way it got hold of our emigrants and its anti-Catholic propaganda in this country." This member went on to demand that the Government turn them out of the houses they occupied and take steps to curtail their activities.

The Under Secretary of State for the Interior, Signor Casertane, replied, saying the American Y. M. C. A. had done much good work "in assisting our soldiers during the war and the Government had made inquiries into its work since the armistice, and had come to the conclusion that it never tried to exercise any political influence in the country, and further, any action that could bring danger to the country." Signor Novasio was not satisfied with this explanation and said he regretted very much to hear that no less than fifty Italian Army officers at Turin took courses of English lessons given by the Y. M. C. A. in that city.

Lobby gossips have amplified the incident by declaring that the objecting member, when making his complaint, got mixed up between the two big American institutions now working in Italy and really meant to criticise the work of the Methodist more than the Y. M. C. A., but thought they were all one organisation.

The Methodists have bought up a large site on Monte Mario, one of Rome's highest hills, and planned to build there a church which they declared was to be "bigger than St. Peter's and would soon make that and the Vatican look small." Neither the Pope nor the rest of the people who live at the Vatican were seriously disturbed at this announcement even when the plan materialised to such an extent that the foundation stone was laid and the walls of a school began to rise onthe top of the said hill.

The Methodists have been in Rome for a very long time and have taught many Roman children the English language free of expense. But strangely enough, though these children go to the Methodist church they also go to mass at the Roman Catholic church.

I remember once seeing an old laundress of my acquaintance leave the Methodist Church one winter's night, one of those Roman nights when the north wind chills you to the bone. "Well, Santina," I said, "so you have become a Methodist"? The old woman smiled and answered. "Not at all. But it's so well warmed in there that I like to go there to say my rosary whilst the gentleman is talking, though of course I never listen to what he says."

Either because the Vatican knows this or because the Italian prelates know that their flocks are not in immediate danger of leaving their old religion for a new one, the Popes have never showed any real alarm for the Methodist activities, and I learn from the Vatican that Signor Novasio's fears are not shared by the Pontiff and his immediate entourage.

The hornets' nest the Methodists raised by their building scheme on Monte Mario came from quite a different direction. People who, though nominally Roman Catholics never go to mass were shocked and indignant to think that "some ugly American building" was going to spoil Monte Mario, one of Rome's most beautiful spots, and such an outcry against it arose in the secular press that the Rome municipality took the matter up and ended by binding down the Methodists not to put up buildings that can be seen at a distance or will in any way be an eyesore.

One of the Methodist ministers said to me:

"I don't suppose we shall make converts in the usual sense of the word. But we try to teach a few children to earn a good living and lead good lives. And surely the Roman Catholics ought to realise that by having us they are getting competition, and competition is a very good thing for everybody, persons and priests included."

At present the controversy stands thus:

The Italian Government, after making an inquiry, have satisfied themselves that neither the American Y. M. C. A. nor the Methodists are interfering with the internal affairs of the country, whereas from a religious standpoint Italy is absolutely free and every religion and every sect has a right to plant its standard on Italian soil. This standpoint is quite in keeping with Italian broadmindedness and Italian ideas of liberty, ideas by which the Church of Rome itself benefits.

The Italian Government, through the Ministry of Fine Arts and the Roman municipality, have safeguarded Monte Mario from the erection if any building that would be an eyesore.

The Popolari, which is very powerful politically and yet always wants to extend its power, is jealous of any clubs for young men that are likely to prevent those same young men from taking any active interest in popolari politics.

The Holy See keeps quite outside the argument and preserves the most discreet silence.

FREUD'S THEORY ABOUT DREAMS IS CALLED 'ROT'

British Physician Says Sub-Conscious Mind is Responsible

London, Oct. 13.—A famous British physician has struck a blow at the Freudian theory on dreams. Apparently the oft-quoted old psychologist has analyzed dreams out of all proportion to their importance.

That is the opinion of Sir Bruce Bruce-Porter, Knight of the British Empire and a Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, in addition to being one of King George's private physicians.

"A modern woman," says Sir Bruce, "dreams of a shipwreck. At once she reads a pseudo-scientific book and imagines she is the victim of some complaint. A modern man dreams he sees a cat walking across a field. On waking he rushes to Freud to see what is the matter with him.

"All this is nonsense. A dream is a perfectly simple and normal act of the sub-conscious brain. Take the case of a man playing the piano. He does not have to think of every note; nor has he to analyze every chord. If it were necessary piano playing would be impossible. All this work is done by the sub-conscious mind, whereas the conscious mind is thinking out the actual meaning and the emotion of what he is playing.

"So it must be realised that we have two minds—a sub-conscious one and a conscious one. When we dream we dream with the sub-conscious one, and the other one for the moment is non-existent. Ordinarily the sub-conscious mind is directed by the conscious one, but when one sleeps the conscious mind is at rest, and therefore the sub-conscious one can wander at will.

"What happens? Images flicker by unchecked with the rapidity of a moving picture film. All the pageant of life buzzes past, as meaningless as a futurist picture. Yet from this unintelligible hotchpotch people are foolish enough to imagine they can discover their innermost souls.

"We are dreaming more today than we have ever dreamed in the past. The more civilised we become the wilder become our sleeping sensations. Our grandparents went to bed in comparative peace. They had no movies, no evening sensational newspapers, whereas we go to bed with a thousand disturbing distractions.

In the street the newsboys may be calling the toll of some new tragedy. The telephone may be ringing. In the distance there is the rush and sound of trains and street cars. In fact, the night is packed with a myriad sensations. Our minds are heated and alert. So we dream.

"The old-fashioned view that a nightmare is due to lobster salad is perfectly correct. Lobster gives a pain, and that pain is communicated to the brain. If the man were awake he could control the pain. But he is asleep, so the sub-conscious brain runs riot. Out of the depths jump the demons and monsters.

"Many morbid people desire dreams. This is putting too much work on the sub-conscious brain, and the sub-conscious brain requires as much rest as its brother. So the healthiest man is the one who enjoys dreamless sleep."

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November 7, 1922

Spot bar silver was up 5-16d. and forward 3-16d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 67⅜ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 444¾.

The only changes in our Official quotations here today were a drop in the Gold Dollar rate to 72¼ and a rise in the Franc rate to 1090.

Our market in the early part of the morning was steady, particularly for forward delivery, business in Sterling being done at 3-3⅜ for December delivery and 3-3 7-16 for January.

Gold Dollars were done at 73¼ for December delivery and 73⅜ for January.

However, later in the morning speculators became buyers and the market eased off, closing with no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-3¼ for December and 3-3 6-16 for January delivery.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 73 for December and 73⅛ for January.

There were sellers of Yen at the close at 66⅛ for December and buyers at 66.

There were always good buyers of exchange for this month's delivery with banks unwilling sellers.

Some business in Sterling was done at 3-3⅜ and in Gold Dollars at 73⅛ but at the close there were no sellers at better than 3-3 3-16 for Sterling and 72⅞ for Gold Dollars.

Banks were quoting 3-4 for Sterling bills, 74½ for Gold Dollar bills and 1135 for Franc bills.

India bought silver again in London yesterday and the market is reported to have closed steady.

New York report their market as easy with sellers and no buyers at the official quotation.

His Soul Wanders In Space, He Says

(China Press Service)

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—Nocturnal wanderings of his soul, while his body rests in sleep, have so advanced that Dr. Guy Bogart, local delver in things astral, according to his own statements, has been awarded a degree in a heavenly "university."

The "university" which conferred the honor on Bogart is said to be situated in Astraria, one plane beyond Astraland, to which souls are supposedly admitted after the "interruption" known as death.

At this fount of astral intelligence, Bogart declares, his spirit met and mingled freely with the teachers of those who are still feeling their way around in the first stage of their experience.

Explaining that love is the basic principle on which the school is conducted, Bogart says that "Doctor of Love" is the name of the degree bestowed on him.

Another amazing declaration was his assertion that the draft is resorted to at times in Astraria to obtain sufficient teachers for the work required in the first plane of hereafter life.

It was explained to Bogart on one of his astral trips, so he says, that during the world war the death rate was so increased that a dire shortage of instructors for newly released souls was experienced. This shortage, he claims, was met only by drafting graduated souls.

Bogart also stated that Astraria is but a stepping stone to many other higher planes, toward which the souls journey as they fit themselves for the responsibilities thereon.

On his trips Bogart says he is frequently met by a friend of his named "D. J.," with whom he was associated constantly through many ages. Several times in previous earthly existences, Bogart says, he and "D. J." have lived their lives in close contact, the former declares. According to Bogart his much reincarnated friend finally has passed on into many planes of the beyond, while Bogart has been allotted another existence on this sphere.

Ford Finds An Odd Two Million In Bank

(China Press Service)

Detroit, Oct. 23.—The finding of a dollar in an old trouser's pocket or picking up a good spare tire on the back of a discarded "Lizzie" is a mere nothing compared with Henry Ford's recent discovery of a forgotten $2,000,000 deposit in a Windsor, Canada, bank.

Henry Ford's bank balance is now reported to be around $200,000,000. The discovery meant nothing more to Henry Ford than the means of buying a few weeks' supply of coal, one Ford official said here today.

1-Hundred Millionth Of A Degree Of Heat!

(China Press Service)

Washington, Oct. 13.—The heat communicated to the earth by the cooler visible stars amounts to only one hundred millionth of a degree, Dr. C. G. Abbott, Assistant Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, reported today to the institution in an announcement that he had I. B. Aldrich had completed successful measurements of the heat of twelve stars at the Carnegie Solar Observatory, Mount Wilson, Cal.

The heat of the stars was measured by a delicate electrical thermometer constructed by Dr. Abbott and Mr. Aldrich. The electrical current produced in this electrical thermometer during the process of measurement was only one trillionth of an ampere.

Oppose Cancellation Of The Allied Debts

(China Press Service)

Washington, Oct. 23.—Senator McKinley (Rep) of Illinois, Senator Spencer (Rep) of Missouri and Senator Harris (Dem) of Georgia are opposed to the cancellation of the allied debt. They expressed this opinion in discussing their impressions gained during a tour of Europe where they were delegates to the peace union.

Proposes Liu For Coast Defence Head

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 4.—General Li Hou-chi is understood to have recommended to the Government that Admiral Liu Kuang-hsiung, former Minister of the Navy, be appointed Coast Defence Commissioner of Fukien. This proposal is now under consideration.

Wright Engineer Invents Safety Device For Aeros

(China Press Service)

Dayton, O., Oct. 23.—Perfection of a new "safety" airplane, which can be flown after four hours' training, was announced today by the Dayton Wright Airplane Company. Mechanism has been so simplified, the manufacturers assert, that the ship will guide itself.

A Dayton youth spent four hours in the plane with an instructor. Then he ascended alone in the plane and, moreover, accomplished "stunts" which airmen have been able to perform only after long training, the announcement said. Col. V. E. Clark, designer for the company, is given credit for making changes in the controls which simplified flying.

Sees Improvement In American Trade

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 6.—Mr. Walter Andrews, President of the British Wool Federation, on his arrival at Liverpool from America said that he had noticed that business was improving very rapidly in the United States, especially in the woollen section.

There was every prospect of very good trade. Americans were anticipating a good time within six months or a year as nearly all trades were improving in the States.

Mislaid: One Island

APPLICATION in due form has been made by the Administration of the Philippine Islands to the government of British North Borneo for the handing over of one island, Banguey by name. The petition is based on a claim that the territory in question was included in the quondam Spanish holdings awarded the United States, under the Treaty of Paris (April, 1899), but the above-mentioned United States, while it has formally occupied something more than 1800 of the 7083 islands, isles, and islets included in said award—an archipelago sprawling over 660,000 square miles of the generously laid out South Pacific, 4642 of whose footholds are not considerable enough to have attained to the dignity of names—has not yet got around to this particular one. Indeed, it is only lately that the Manila officials seem to have awakened to the fact that Banguey (as they affirm) ought to be under their jurisdiction. Was ever another piece of news like this?

It requires a little looking to find Banguey even on sizable maps. Hoilprin quite ignores it through all the 2,000 pages of his gazetteer. The twenty-nine volumes of the Encyclopædia Britannica find not a word to say of it. But it is there to be found, despite such slightings, all the fifteen by twenty-one miles of it. Yes, there it is, south of Balabac Strait, which separates the Philippine island of that name (down at the farthest southwestern corner of the group) from North Borneo. As it is twenty-five miles from Balabac and only five from Borneo's northernmost point, it is not wholly unnatural that a few Borneans, some little time before 1899 and the diplomatic meeting at the French capital, should have settled there in the belief that it was a part of their land even if not geologically a portion of their coast. Today they claim it by right of that earlier occupation.

Intrinsically it would appear to be worth rather next to nothing, but America sees value in it as a station in the customs service, the internal revenue officers affirming it has become recently a base for smuggling opium into the Philippines. Opium, the year-books tell us, stands first of the nine sources of the Bornean income from duties.

It is all a matter, clearly, of the minutiæ of international affairs. It is certain to be straightened out properly and promptly. But it is surely worth a glance in passing, even in such over-busy, ultra-important times, if for no reason other than that it has given the world that rare treat of reading of a unique happening—really and literally unique. Mislaid: one island.

Dr. Wu Lien-teh Reports On Manchurian Plague Prevention

(Summary of Tenth Annual General Report, 1922.)

Harbin, October 30.

To His Excellency,
The Minister for Foreign Affairs, Peking.

Sir: I have the honor to submit a summary of the Tenth Annual General Report of the North Manchurian Plague Prevention Service for the year ending Sept. 1922.

2.—The end of September of this year marks the completion of the tenth anniversary of our Service. Thanks to the cordial support which we have consistently received from the Central and Provincial authorities, we have been able not only to render considerable services to the sick and suffering in China, but also to place on record before the scientific world a name for Chinese medical research, as evidenced by requests for our reports and by constant references to our work in medical and scientific literature.

3.—To celebrate the tenth anniversary, we published last September a large medical report in English and Chinese. The English edition covers 354 pages of reading matter besides a colored frontispiece of a pneumonic plague lung, three big maps and charts and 36 illustrations. The Chinese edition comprises 198 pages in addition to plates and illustrations. The first half of the book deals with our latest researches connected with the last epidemic of pneumonic plague and includes the following subjects:

1.—The second Manchurian Pneumonic Plague Epidemic in Manchuria, 1920-21.
2.—Observations made during and after the second Manchurian Plague Epidemic, 1920-21.
3.—The Role of the tarabagan in the epidemiology of Plague.
4.—Clinical observations upon the second Manchurian Plague Epidemic.
5.—Pathological Findings in Plague Pneumonia.
6.—Salient points about the 1921 Pneumonic Plague in Harbin.

Our more important contributions are being published separately in the British Journal of Pathology and Bacteriology, The British Jl. of Hygiene, China Medical Jl., National Medical Jl. of China, American, Japanese and German scientific Journals.

4.—About the third week of September 1922, we received information that some cases of plague had occurred at Haranor in Transbaikalia, 80 versts west of Manchouli Station. Senior Medical Officer J. W. H. Chun together with an Assistant proceeded to the spot on September 23. From inquiries made by Dr. Chun and Dr. Loshkoff, Chief of the Railway Sanitary Department, it was ascertained that a Russian girl, aged 17 years, belonging to a well-to-do family (Tonki), suddenly took ill early in September with fever and cough and died after nine days. A week later (September 15) the father became sick with shortness of breath and pain in the chest but did not cough up blood. He died on the 17th, followed the next day by his wife whose blood-stained sputum was found by Dr. Krotkoff of Chita to contain plague bacilli. The little daughter succumbed on the 19th, and the little son on the 20th, so that within the space of two weeks the whole family of five had died, evidently of pneumonic plague. Specimens sent to our main laboratory in Harbin confirmed the diagnosis. Another case occurring on Sept. 26 at Olovianaya, midway between Manchouli and Chita in Siberia was also found to be bubonic plague.

One interesting fact gathered from the first series was that the Russian doctor Krotkoff and his assistant were accused by the local populace of having brought the plague and as a punishment were kept inside the infected house for 36 hours (most of the time with the two sick children in one room) after they were released. Fortunately neither prisoner caught the disease, and no further cases were recorded in that locality.

The above cases occurring in two different parts of the endemic regions of Transbaikalia are significant.

5.—Manchuria has been entirely free from plague during the past year. Hongkong, however, claimed an unusual number of bubonic cases (nearly 1,000), though Canton and its environs were practically free. Osaka and Yokohama in Japan also reported a few cases each.

6.—The past year has seen a considerable number of cholera cases in China and Japan. Over 2,000 were recorded in Shanghai district which at one time threatened, as in 1919, to distribute the infection broadcast. Fortunately, thanks to the early precautions taken at Tsingtau, Tientsin, Dairen, Newchwang and other important centers, the cases, even when they occurred, were limited in number, and a general epidemic was prevented. Less than 20 cases occurred at Tientsin, thanks to the strict measures enforced especially against the sale of melons and uncooked food. In Manchuria, our records were as follows:

	Cases
Dairen	5 (3J and 2C)
Mukden	1 (C)
Newchwang	13 (C)
Antung	113 (C)
	Deaths
Dairen	2 (1J and 1C)
Mukden	0
Newchwang	14 (C)
Antung	65 (C)

up to Oct. 25

During September a large number of cases were reported throughout Japan and Korea, in spite of the vaccination campaign encouraged by the authorities. The Manchurian port of Antung was infected by cases from the Korean border and has reported to date over one hundred cases. It is unfortunate that our proposal to establish a quarantine hospital in that city has not yet matured, so that efficient measures may be undertaken to cope with this epidemic. The establishment of our Quarantine Hospital at Newchwang has probably saved Manchuria from a similar visitation to that of 1919.

7.—Early in January several cases of Typhus exanthematicus were reported from Manchouli. I visited Manchouli Station personally to advise our Medical Officer Kwan on the necessary preparations.

Altogether 92 cases were treated between January and April. It is strange that out of a total of 250 cases seen, only three were Chinese, the rest being entirely among Russians.

Influenza invaded Harbin and the Chinese Eastern Railway area about the fourth week of January, apparently as part of the general pandemic. Both Chinese and foreigners were attacked but the disease was on the whole mild, and not many deaths were reported as arising from it. Among other interesting disease seen by us, infectious pneumonia among cattle was prominent. To prevent its spread, inspection and restriction of cattle movement were enforced.

Small pox and bowel diseases were not unusually frequent this year.

8.—Thanks to the permission given by the Ministry for the allocation of $30,000 of our reserve funds towards the building of a new patients' block, we were able to start the foundations on April 14. Building operations were continued throughout the spring and summer so that the whole block was completed for occupation in the middle of Sept. This latest addition to our Hospital is very necessary in view of the gradual tumbling down of the hastily-built structures completed twelve years ago for the great plague epidemic. Besides commodious wards for general 3rd class patients, we have reserved four special rooms for 1st and 2nd class patients. The equipment and sanitary fittings are all up-to-date, in addition to central steam-heating. An X-ray plant is also installed inside the building. A photograph is herewith attached.

The formal opening will take place on Oct. 31 when it is expected that 200 guests will attend.

9.—I am pleased to inform you that 2,400 square sajen (20 mou) of land have been granted to us by the Chinese Eastern Railway on elevated ground in the New Town close to the Russian cemetery. A complete quarantine and observation camp will be erected upon the site as soon as funds are available.

I have also to report that, in reply to our request for a site to build an anti-plague hospital of our own at Manchouli, the Railway authorities have granted us a convenient piece of land for the purpose, measuring 800 square sajen. The premises which we are at present occupying have only been loaned to us by the local Municipal Council, and we trust you will help us in obtaining the necessary appropriation for this vital spot of our anti-plague organisation, because plague always invades Manchuria from Siberia through this point.

10.—I obtained three months' leave from February to May, which was spent in the Straits Settlements.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Science (Sc. D) was conferred on June 24 upon me by the University of St. John's, Shanghai, "in view of my valuable contributions to medical science and research."

In recognition of the services of our Staff in the suppression of the 1921 plague, the President was pleased to confer various honors upon the members. I received the Second Class Paokuang Chiaho Decoration.

11.—The summer has not been very trying, but the month of August and September were marked by severe typhoons along the coast of China, which did immense damage to all concerned. The towns of Swatow, Taichow, Mokanshan, Chinkiang, Wenchow, Chefoo and Weihaiwei suffered badly. Places as far north as Vladivostok and Kamchatka were also visited by the typhoons.

12.—The business depression observed all over the East has also affected Harbin. As a result rent has come down considerably and many lines of goods are unusually cheap. Both Railway and Municipal authorities have prosecuted their road-making program with vigor, and communications have therefore considerably improved. Our Harbin Hospital, which was formerly rather isolated, can now be reached by good macadamised roads from the New Town, Pristan and Chinese city.

13.—All our station Hospitals report progress. With the exception of Newchwang no cases of cholera were reported at any place. The following are figures of out-patients seen at the respective hospitals in 1921-1922 as compared with previous years:

	1921-22	1920-21	1919-20	1918-19
Harbin	9,345	5,058	11,468	10,474
Taheihe	4,290	4,649	6,586	6,513
Sansing	4,654	3,631	4,694	3,677
Lahasusu	2,218	3,229	1,885	1,089
Newchwang	3,043	3,225	3,230	—
Manchouli	2,291	—	—	—

The above do not include Customs, Post Office, Government employes and private patients.

Harbin Hospital admitted 208 cases, of which 112 were operations under anaesthetics. Among these were 2 cases of tetanus, 2 of dysentery, 7 of typhoid, 4 of typhus and 8 of influenza.

14.—The following comprise the personnel of the service during the past year:

Dr. Wu Lien-teh, Director and Chief Medical Officer.
Mr. R. C. L. d'Anjou (Commissioner of Customs), Lay Director and Treasurer.
Dr. J. W. H. Chun, M.B., B.C. (Cantab) Senior Medical Officer, Harbin.
Dr. Pollitzer, M. D. (Vienna) Bacteriologist.
Dr. Ando Chu, M. B., Ch. B. (Edin.) Senior Medical Officer, Newchwang.
Dr. Lin Chia-swee, in charge of Immunology Dept., Harbin.
Dr. Li Ann, M. D. (Tokio) Parasitologist, Harbin.
Dr. Tang Tsung-nien, M. D. Senior Medical Officer, Taneiho.
Dr. Shih Chi-liang, Resident Medical Officer, Sansing.
Dr. Y. M. Kwan, Resident Medical Officer, Manchouli.
Dr. Chen Ching, Assistant Medical Officer, Harbin.
Dr. Li En-cheng, Resident Medical Officer, Lahasusu.
Mrs. Chen Chin Tsai, Deputy Medical Officer, on leave.
Miss Chen Chi-ching, Female Medical Officer, Taheiho.
Miss Kung Sui-Chen, Chief Nurse, Harbin.
Miss Chu Tsai-chen, Chief Nurse, Newchwang.

15.—In conclusion, I wish to express my best thanks to the Chinese Government, Chinese Eastern and South Manchurian Railways for facilities granted me in the prosecution of my work. Our relations with the Japanese and Russian Medical Officers have been of a most cordial nature. I am also grateful to our Customs Officers at various stations in Manchuria for frequent assistance rendered to members of our Staff in the course of their duty. I have the honor to be, Sir, Your obedient Servant,

(Signed) Wu Lien-teh.
Director and Chief Medical Officer.

Space, Time And Other Problems

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Without the aid of your useful column in which so much information is given I could not find the answer to many questions which puzzle me. Now I want to ask: (1) Is there an end to space? It surely can't go on forever; everything must come to an end, even space. (2) If a hole were drilled through the center of the earth would we see the sky on the opposite side of the earth through the hole? When you consider the vanishing point, etc. is it possible to see that far?—G. D., Detroit."

Who, seeing the human mind occupied with these "unpractical" things, can doubt that there is a divinity in man? Such questions are among the clearest indications of a struggling immortal spirit in us. "Practical" things are all mortal; as evanescent as the breath of life; it is the unpractical that gives us hold on something which we know to be higher and more enduring.

But to the questions: (1) What assures you, G. D., that space "surely can't go on forever?" Do you find it any easier to imagine an end to space than to imagine extending away without end? Of course one can readily make a mental picture of an end, or edge, to a limited, or definite, part of space; but when that is done what is the mind's attitude concerning the other side of the imaginary boundary?

Can you imagine yourself outside of space without at the same time imagining another expanse of space envcloping you? You may make the outside space differ in composition from the other, but space, in its most general and universal sense, it must still continue to be.

It does not help in the least to say, with the Einsteinists, that space has an inherent quality of curvature, or of sphericity, and is endless only in the sense that a great circle drawn round a globe is without end because it continually returns into itself. This is mere playing with words. Whether space is inherently spherical, or cubical, or possesses any other geometrical quality, the mind inevitably bounds it as soon as such terms are applied, and in the very act of thus bounding space, we involuntarily create another expanse of space surrounding the limited portion. It flies before us and cannot be overtaken.

These are the great, for us here unsolvable, mysteries—illimitable space and endless time. Can you in your mind arrest the march of the centuries? When Cicero died, did time cease to flow because, perchance, it ceased for him? When we are gone will time stop? When the earth and the sun are gone will there be an end to time?

Some of the Einstein speculations affirm that there is no space where there is no matter, and no time where there is no change. But I find more satisfaction in the old hypothesis. Though I can comprehend neither eternity nor infinity, I find it impossible to imagine either the end or the termination of space. Whenever I try farther, abysses yawn beyond each successive point that my mind reaches.

(2) Suppose the hole through the earth to be circular and one hundred feet in diameter, then the opening at the opposite end would have an angular diameter of about one-half a second of arc as seen from your end. If the sun or a bright star happened to be exactly in line with the axis of the hole, it would be visible, provided that you shielded off very carefully all extraneous light when looking down into the hole.

It would be necessary to have the air filling the hole very clear and free from impurities. The darkness in the hole would be no impediment to the passage of the light rays, though there might be some extraordinary effects of refraction due to the dense and confined air. But, unless the sun or a star were in line with the hole, you would see nothing. The brightness of the sky background would not be sufficient to impress the eye if the area comprehended was only half a second of arc in diameter.

Suppose the diameter of the bore to be increased to one mile. Then the angular diameter of the opposite end viewed through the earth would be nearly twenty-six seconds of arc, forming a disk still too small probably to be seen by sky illumination. But make the hole seventy-five miles in diameter, thus increasing the angular diameter of the opening at the other end to about thirty-two minutes of arc, or the apparent diameter of the full moon, and a circle of the sky of that size on the other side of the earth would be easily seen.

To represent the size and general appearance of the opening on the other side of the earth, having the sky for background, and seen through a bore seventy-five miles in diameter, take a tube about four and a half feet long and half an inch interior diameter, and look through it at the sky.

B. P. Boy Scouts

Sunday, November 12. At 8.45 a.m. Troops will march on to the British Consular Grounds and fall in on the left hand side of the main drive in column of Troops, facing East, in the following order:

Public School Troop.
Jewish School Troop.
Thos. Hanbury School Troop.
Cathedral School Troop.
French School Troop.

Acting District Scoutmaster J. P. Jones, B. Sc., M. I. Min. E., will take charge as soon as Troops arrive on the grounds, and see that all Troops fall in their correct alignment.

The Band will fall facing North in front of the Public School Troop under Asst. Scoutmaster D. Whiteman.

The District Scoutmaster will inspect Troops and report all present to the District Commissioner at 9 a.m., when Troops will be inspected by the newly-appointed Commissioner for North China, Mr. Sidney Barton, C. M. G., British Consul-General.

After the inspection, Troops will march in column of Patrols to a position on the main grounds where the Scouts' Memorial Drum Head Service will be conducted by the very Rev. Dean C. Symons, Rev. A. N. Rowland and Rabbi Hirsh, in honor of those who fell in the Great War.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Troops will march past the Commissioner for North China taking the salute.

Troops will then take up their original position on the left of the main drive. Troop Leaders will then take charge and march their respective Troops back to their headquarters or to the Bund, where they will be dismissed.

All Officers will remain behind at the Consulate to take part in the initiation ceremony recently approved by Sir Robert Baden Powell, Chief Scout, for all those officers who desire verbally to express their keenness and enthusiasm for the movement.

Parents and friends of the Scouts and others interested in the movement are invited to attend the ceremony in the grounds at 9 a.m.

Only officers and members of the Scout Council may attend the Ipise Ceremony, to be held in the Consulate.

Troops will carry staves, colors and all brand instruments. No Scout will be allowed on parade unless in uniform. The District Scoutmaster has the power to censure any improperly or slovenly dressed Scout and he will select the two smartest Scouts on parade to lower and hoist the flag during the period of silence.

If wet, Troops will parade inside the Consulate Building at the same time.

Officers without uniform may attend the Ipise Ceremony, but not the Full Dress Parade. Shorts will be worn by all.

These orders to hold good unless otherwise notified by the District Commissioner.

F. C. MILLINGTON,
District Commissioner.

Wife Chases Husband 5,000 Miles

MRS. Bessie Brehms, mother of two children, trailed her violinist husband, William Brehms, 5,000 miles from their native Prague, in Czecho-Slovakia, to Wheeling, W. Va., where she had him arrested pending his extradition to New York. She found him living comfortably with two women in a studio apartment and, begged aid for herself and their two children, but he spurned her.

Weddings

SHARD—MOORE

A very pretty wedding took place Monday afternoon at Holy Trinity Cathedral when Miss Alison Moore was married to Mr. George Edward Shard.

The bride who arrived from England a few days ago is the only daughtner of Mr. and Mrs. T. Moore of "White Lodge" Sandiway, while the bridegroom, who arrived in Shanghai about two years ago to join Messrs. Brunner, Mond, whose manager he is at Chefoo, is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. P. Shard of "The Cables" Hartford, Cheshire.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. Percy Fowler, looked charming in a very pretty dress of cream charmeuse with a covering of delicate lace with hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and carnations and was attended by two little bridesmaids, the Misses Marjorie and Eileen Fowler, who were lace frocks over blue georgette and carried baskets of roses. Mr. Railton carried out the duties of best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fowler in Yu Yuen Road when the health of the newly married couple was proposed by Mr. Fowler to which Mr. Shard responded. Mr. Railton subsequently proposed the health of the bridesmaids.

Mr. and Mrs. Shard left later for their honeymoon which is to be spent in Peking.

WARREN—RADCLIFFE

Mr. William Norman Warren, and Miss Lily Florence Radcliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Radcliffe of Peel, I. O. M. were married at Changsha on October 20, the ceremony being performed at the Wesleyan Methodist Church by the Rev. G. G. Warren, father of the groom. A civil service was held afterwards at the British Consulate.

Regrets Resignation Of Macao Governor

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 7.—At a reception in his honor at the Lusitano Club yesterday evening the Acting Governor said that he was sure that all were sorry to hear of the resignation of his friend, the Governor of Macao.

The relations between the Macao Government and the Hongkong Government, as well as with the local Portuguese community, had always been very friendly.
